Former Board School, now Arts Centre. C1880s. Red brick with clay tile roof. 1 and 2-storey, 3 gabled range onto Queen's Road with additional gable of the former school house to the west end. Regular plan. Red brick in English bond with vitrified brick stringcourses. Very large casement windows to each gable of the school with red brick 2-centred retaining arches above with ashlar keystones. Otherwise windows and doors are under cambered brick arches with keystone detail. Westernmost range; the school house, is linked to the school, 2-storey plus semi-basement with double height canted bay window with vertical sliding sashes. Deep eaves to gables is carried out on a curved and cusped timber bargeboard which is bracketed at the eaves - this feature is matched to each of the projecting gables of the school. Tall slender red brick stacks. Late 20th century glazed gabled open porch and modern doors to entrance. Entrance to house is reached by a flight of stone stairs flanked by (modern) railings which continue around front semi-basement area. Low brick boundary wall below railings.

A very attractive building in the townscape converted to a popular and well-used local facility.
