Former ward to Isolation Hospital. C1898. Small rectangular plan building. Equivalent of two storey to main range with single storey range to the north. Red brick with hipped natural roof and red clay ridge tiles. Tall double height windows to east and west elevations (now with later replacement windows). Low stepped plinth of engineering bricks (similar to that of Mauritius Block in part and Singapore Block). String course of double-nailhead decorative bricks links cills to windows (also seen to Singapore Block). Flat gauged brick arches to windows and door openings. Carved timber brackets to projecting eaves matching those seen to Singapore Block. Some blocked openings.

Germany Block forms part of the wider group which makes up the architecturally and historically significant Thornhill Barracks complex.

Historical Context:

Any Further Comments:

Roof appears in places to be in a poor condition, there is evidence of the failure of rainwater goods (staining to the walls) and evidence of rising damp (staining to brickwork)
